

Mark Twain meets Francis Asbury

A workshop of Homiletics, Humor and Storytelling

Epworth By The Sea

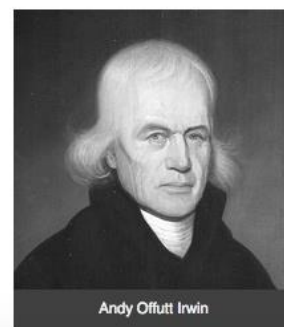

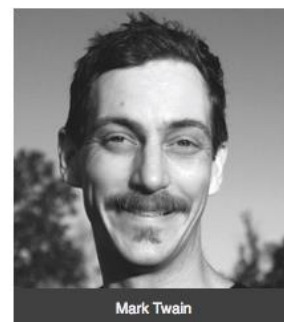

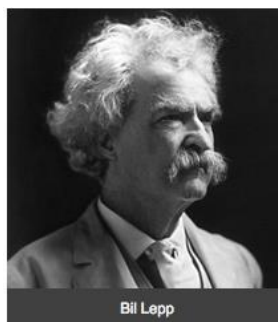

July 26-29, 2018

“Humor must not professedly teach, and it must not professedly preach, but it must do both if it would live forever.”

-Mark Twain

“My soul is more at rest from the temper when I am busily employed.”

_ Francis Asbury

Be it known to all gathered here that storytellers Bil Lepp and Andy Offutt Irwin are united in their belief in the importance of developing narrative arcs within homiletic compositions by incorporating-in part-humor to increase emotional-cognitive comprehension.

In other words, if your congregation is engrossed in a story, and they are laughing, they are listening and learning!

And, clearly, Bil and Andy hope you join them on the coast of Georgia at balmy Epworth By The Sea so that they may continue being busily employed.

And who wants to hang out with just preachers?
PLEASE, know this: EVERYONE IS WELCOME!
